Our aim is to obtain the best outcome for our clients. The evidence and your goals will be analysed objectively at the outset. We advise clients of their options and look to agree the best strategy quickly. That may include alternative forms of dispute resolutions, or summary court action, which can be quicker and cheaper than traditional Court proceedings. Disputes can be complex and time consuming, so we will discuss the costs of each option and your budget at the outset. We then proceed with all due expediency.

Good preparation can produce evidence that can turn a case, whereas an unconsidered statement can damage prospects of success. You may need to act promptly to secure evidence or safeguard assets. We strongly encourage you to involve us at an early stage of any potential dispute, as it is often possible to avoid you becoming embroiled in a potentially costly legal action, through a timely intervention. Our early involvement may also protect your position.

What we do...

We have expertise and experience in advising on claims of national and international content in the following areas:

- General contractual disputes
- Professional negligence
- Companies and partnerships
- Directors' disqualification
- Computers and information technology
- Commercial debts
- Defective products
- Intellectual property
- Agency disputes involving commercial agents and recruitment agencies
- Landlord and tenant
- Libel
- Property disputes
- Engineering and construction

What we achieve...

If legal proceedings are unavoidable we issue and defend an enormous variety of claims in all divisions of the High Court and in the County Courts. Recent cases include:

- Successfully striking out a claim for the delivery up of plant legitimately purchased by our client but where the seller had sold with bad title.
- Settling a high profile defamation case at an early stage and at a very economic level.
- Recovering a seven figure sum in damages arising from a series of complex joint ventures involving property developments.
- Successfully recovering a client's stock against receivers appointed on the insolvency of a customer on the basis of retention of title clause drafted by our corporate department.
- Successfully defeating a Commercial Agency Claim made against our client by a sales agent.
- Successfully negotiating the resolution to a partnership dispute on retirement of one partner.
- Obtaining an apology and retraction of a statement implying that our client was associated with a fraudulent bank by threat of libel proceedings.
- Acting for a small business threatened with Court action by a multi-national corporation for using its business name as a domain name on the Internet. Legal proceedings were avoided and our client's costs reimbursed.
- Obtaining compensation from a computer designer and supplier for installing a system which was not fit for purpose.

As a member of The Law Society's Lawyers for Your Business Scheme we offer a free 30 minute consultation to new and existing businesses so that we can tell you how we might be able to help you.
